

Congratulations on the birth of your baby,

We try our best to find the best method for induction of labour. This is a questionnaire about your experience and satisfaction with the induction method.

In this specific study we compare two different regimes of induction of labour at two different hospital departments at respectively Næstved and Holbæk Hospital. The study title is: "Misodel or Angusta for induction of labour - a medical technological assessment".

The study is supported financially by the Region of Zealand. The main author of the project received no financial support from the medical industry and has no shares in drug-producing companies.

All information and personal data in this study will be treated with confidentiality. The data are stored according to the Danish Data Protection Agency and will be destroyed as soon as the study is finished.
